

When groups as diverse as the NRA and Common Cause agree on something it should make you stop and think. Please retain the current ownership rules.

Look to radio for what multiple ownership has done. Clear Channel controls 1200 radio stations and dozens of performance venues. Where is the freedom of expression if a performer has to worry about offending Clear Channel, which then refuses to play the music or book the concert? The more owners, the better.
Thank You